Animal Welfare Regulation 2001

Australian Code for the Care and Use of Animals for Scientific Purposes 8th Edition 2013 (the Code)

In accordance with the Code for the Care and use of animals for scientific purp d's Edi8on 2013 2.3.28 the AEC will submit a written report on its operations at least annually to the Animal Welfare Authority and an executive of the institution (s) for which it acts. The AEC will report to the Director of Health, Community and Science college, CIT.

The report will advise on:

- I. The numbers and types of projects and activities assessed, and approved or rejected
- II. The physical facilities for the care and use of animals by the institution
- III. Actions that have supported the educational and training needs of AEC members, AWLOs and people involved in the care and use of animals
- IV. Administrative and other difficulties experienced
- V. Any matters that may affect the institution's ability to maintain compliance with the Code and, if appropriate, suitable recommendations.

The Committee will require that all members declare any conflict of interest:

- Prior to their appointment by making a signed declaration of all real or potential conflicts of interest as part of the member application process
- As matters arise by declaring all real or potential conflicts of interest and the nature of that

All CIT staff are bound by privacy and confidentially whilst being employed at CIT and adhere to the "Australian Privacy Principles" guidelines. All information collected by CIT is regarded as confidential. CIT is committed to meeting the requirements of the "Information Privacy Act 2014".

All information is stored securely and personal information won't be disclosed to a third party without consent, unless required by law for the purposes of the "information Privacy Act".

Decisions should be based on a thorough, fair and inclusive process of discussion and deliberation of AEC members and should be made only by those present throughout the discussion.

Decisions should be made based on consensus, and where consensus cannot be reached after reasonable effort to resolve differences, the AEC should explore with the applicant(s) ways of modifying the project or activity that may lead to consensus. [Section 2.3.11 of the Code].

CIT is responsible for the recruitment and appointment of all CIT AEC members. The Chair is appointed by the Director of the Health, Community and Science College (HCSC). Suitable candidates for Categories A to D are recruited via the jobs@act.gov.au register. CIT Science Head of Department provides the applicants documentation to the Director HCSC for consideration. The final selection and approval of members is undertaken by the Director HCSC. Appointments are for an initial term of three (3) years.

Appointments, retirements and resignations of members will be acknowledged by the committee and CIT Science. All retirements and resignations are to be submitted in writing, advice by email is acceptable.

Prior to their appointment, all members of the Animal Ethics Committee must acknowledge in writing their acceptance of the Terms of Reference, Grievance Policy, and must sign the Code of Conduct and Confidentiality Agreement.

Membership is determined by the animal welfare legislation and chapter 2.2 of the Code.

Institutions must appoint a chairperson of the AEC. Institutions should consider appointing a chairperson who holds a senior position in the institution. If the chairperson is an external appointee, institutions must provide the chairperson with the necessary support and authority to carry out the role. The chairperson may be appointed in addition to Category A to D members. Institutions should consider appointing a chairperson who is independent of the care and use of animals for scientific purposes.
